

11 February 2022
Council Room (K2.29)
Strand Campus
King's College London
London, WC2R 2LS

PPRN GRADUATE WORKSHOP – III EDITION –

*PUBLIC POLICY,
POLITICAL ECONOMY, &
PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION*

PROGRAMME

9:00-9:15: Registration and refreshments

9:15-11:15: Panel session 1

- Felipe Torres, University of Oxford
“Government audits of municipal corruption and belief updating: experimental evidence”
Discussant: Dr Daniel Berliner, London School of Economics
- Rebecca Kirley and Carlotta Varriale, Bocconi University
“Administrative reorganization and women in public management: theory and evidence from Italian local health agencies, 2006-2020”
Discussant: Professor Rosie Campbell, King's College London
- Daniel Rojas, University of British Columbia
“Policy responsiveness in developing countries: evidence from Latin America”
Discussant: Dr Julian Limberg, King's College London

11:15-11:30: Refreshment break

11:30-13:30: Panel session 2

- Konstantin Bogatyrev, Bocconi University
“Many executions, yet no deterrence: evidence from the death penalty abolition in Ukraine”
Discussant: Dr Judith Spirig, University College London

- Pau Vall Prat, University of Barcelona
“Regional Elites Are Calling: Political Implications of Technological Change”
Discussant: Dr Eleanor Woodhouse, University College London
- Giovanni Angioni, London School of Economics
“Do they both want to redistribute? A comparative study of candidates-voters congruence on preferences for redistribution”
Discussant: Dr David Hope, King’s College London

13:30-14:30: Lunch

14:30-16:30: Panel session 3

- Alice Moore, University College London
“Better the devil you know? The effect of prior relationships on competition for UK government contracts”
Discussant: Dr Matia Vannoni, King’s College London
- Alberto Parmigiani, London School of Economics
“The negative agenda power of campaign contributions: evidence from US Congress”
Discussant: Dr Christel Koop, King’s College London
- Anna Schwarz, Vienna University of Economics and Business
“Never settle for average: Examining heterogeneity in information treatment effects on perceptions of intergenerational mobility”
Discussant: Dr Florian Foos, London School of Economics

16:30-16:45: Closing remarks and award of best paper prize

16:45-18:30: Networking reception